SUNDRY CIVIL BILL AGAIN.

Old Soldiers Who Want the Confederate Flag Suppressed.

SILVER SPEECHES IN THE SENATE.

SENATE.

The House amendments to the bill to establish the customs collection district of Puget sound were non-concurred in and a conference asked.

THE ANTI-TRUST BILL. A message from the House asking further conference on the anti-trust bill was presented and the request was assented to-after remarks by Senators Edmunds and Vest.

MR. EDMUNDS EXPLAINS. Mr. Edmunds said that it had been stated, and seemed to have been believed in some quarters, that the Senate amendment to the House amendment to that bill had the effect to repeal or to modify a provision of the interstate commerce law prohibiting pooling. That amendment, he said, had no such effect whatever. He thought it due to the House of Representatives and to the Senate to say that. Referring to some remarks made in the House, Mr. Edmunds said that he had seen it stated in a newspaper (that was the only way he could properly aliude to the matter) that the Senate amendment had been got through the Senate by the influence of railroads and corporations; that the Senate was subject to that sort of influence, and not much else could be expected from the Senate in that behalf.

THE SENATE AND CORPORATIONS. He wished to recall to the attention of the Senate the fact that every piece of important legislation in the last ten years or more that had affected great corporations had been, in the outset, the work of the Senate. The which had brought the Pacific railroads into some sort of obedience to the laws and to some fore, entirely unjust for anybody to say anywhere (and perhaps he dignified it a little too much by alluding to it at all) that any act of the Senate or any act of any Senator could be referred to at ...y timelto justify what had been seen in the newspapers. AN ORGANIZED EFFORT. The only force which he had known to be exerted (and he had knowledge of it) had been progrations, through well known events and influences (well known to him), to induce simple-erful effort on the part of railroad and other minded people somewhere (of course was unable to say where) to defeat the Senate amendment, and to mislead those people in opposition to it by betraying them into the false notion that they were defending the people in defeating an amendment which the railroads did not want. A DEFICENCY PROVIDED FOR.

The deficiency appropriation for pensions and the census was reported and passed. TO RETIRE GEN. BANKS.

Mr. Dawes introduced a bill to retire Gen. Banks as major general of the United States army, and presented a petition of the members of the Massachusetts legislature in aid of it. Referred to the committee on military affairs.

SLAVERY AND THE SLAVE TRADE. Mr. Blair introduced a joint resolution requesting the President of the United States to nstitute an international conference to meet n Washington in February, 1891, with a view to the formation of an international alliance for the suppression of slavery and the slave trade, and of the traffic in intoxicating liquors, fire-arms and destructive substances with uncivilized people, and to provide for the establishment of schools of common knowledge, art and industry, also to secure the disarmament of nations and the establisment of international courts, and appropriating $100,000 for the expenses of the conference. The joint resolution was laid on the table, Mr Blair announcing his intention to address the Senate hereafter on the subject. THE SILVER BILL. The House silver bill was taken up, and Mr. Daniel resumed the speech begun by him last Friday.

Mr. Allison next addressed the Senate. NO VOTE TODAY.

In the course of Mr. Allison's speech on the silver bill Mr. Teller stated that there were (to his knowledge) two and perhaps three more speeches to be made upon it, so that the final rote would not be reached today. HOUSE.

Mr. Milliken (Me.) presented and the House adopted the conference report on the bill for a public building at Beaver Falls, Pa. (The limit of the cost is $50,000.) Also the conference report on a bill for a public building at Salina, Kan. (The limit of cost is $75,000.) TO PROHIBIT CONFEDERATE FLAGS. Mr. Williams (Ohio) presented the petition of ex-soldiers of Dayton, Ohio, for the enactment of a law prohibiting the sale, use, manufacture or importation of banners or flags representing the confederate flag or the red flag of the anarchist. Referred.

THE SUNDRY CIVIL BILL. The House then went into committee of the whole (Mr. Burrows of Michigan in the chair) on the sundry civil appropriation bill.

GEN. HOLABIRD RETIRED.

The Quartermaster General's Office for a Time in Charge of a Deputy.

Brig. Gen. Samuel C. Holabird, quartermaster general of the army, was today placed on the retired list of the army, having reached the statutory age of sixty-four years. He is a native of Connecticut, and was appointed a cadet at the Military Academy from that state in 1845, graduating four years later as a second lieutenant of the first infantry. In 1861 he was appointed a captain and assistant quartermaster. A CENT A POUND FOR ICE. One Company Has Put Up Its Prices and Others Expect To.

AS THE EXCUSE-COMPANIES THAT HAVE NOT YET ADVANCED THEIR PRICES-AN EXPECTED INCREASE ALL ALONG THE LINE.

Today has been a reasonably cool and pleasant day, but if tomorrow should prove to be another scorcher such as has been known in this city, and there should come in consequence an extra demand for iced drinks, ice cream and refrigerator filling there will be heard one long dismal wail of protest. Why? The answer is simple: Ice is up. Way up. At least some of those engaged in supplying Washington have put up their prices and other companies have given indications of their intention to do so.

A half a cent a pound seems more than enough for a staple of such shrinking properties. Then how about a cent a pound? That's where the rub will come. For some of the local dealers have raised their retail price to that figure and others are expected to step into line in a few days.

THE COST OF TRANSPORTATION. high-from $1.60 to $1.75-and that the ice supply in Maine is very small and rapidly disappearing. Oh, that Maine supply! It is dways so very large and promising in midwinter, but it can never be found in the dogdays. "Ice is higher in proportion in Maine than here," say the dealers, "and ice must go up or we must go under."

A DROP IN NEW YORK. In New York, though, the story is different. There the sudden influx of an immense amount of northern New York ice knocked the calculations of the ice combine into a cocked hat and ice has taken a big drop, with a further reduction looked for. Week before last the wholesale companies demanded $10 and $12 per ton and got it, too. By Saturday they were satisfied with $8, while splendid Maine ice, solid and 18 inches thick, was being sold by the shipping companies at $6 per ton at their hatchways.

THE AMERICAN COMPANY. In this city the American Ice Company has issued a prettily printed notice that on and after Monday, June 16, the price of ice delivered by that company will be, until further notice, I cent per pound for lots from 1 to 20 pounds; from 20 to 50 pounds, 80 cents per 100; from 50 pounds up, 70 cents per 100.

The reasons they give for this action are substantially the high freight charges and the high prices in Maine. The National Capital Company has not yet raised their prices, but it is almost certain they will in a few days.

MAKE THEIR OWN ICE. tons a day and this will be increased to 120 tons increased, however, they will probably attend to private families and small consumers. They have not raised their prices and say they will not have to and do not intend to. THE GREAT FALLS COMPANY.

When a STAR reporter called at the office of the Great Falls Ice Company this morning he found the president, Mr. T. A. Lambert, and the superintendent. Mr. J. D. Bartlett, sitting together in the back office.
"We have not raised the price of ice," said

Mr. Bartlett, in response to a question. "The prices are just the same as they were last year, namely: one-half cent a pound to small con-sumers. There is no doubt that the price ought to be advanced and probably will be before the end of the season. One reason why we ought to get more for our ice this year than last is that we pay twice as much for freight as we did last year. Owing to the general failure of the ice crop throughout the country, except on the Maine coast, there is a greater demand for vessels and the result is that freight charges have gone up."

"This company," observed Mr. Lambert, "is governed in its scale of prices by the demands of the market. This business is like any other in our opinion and the market price ought to prevail. "We have no favored customers," added Mr.

nish ice at a certain figure except to very large consumers. Other companies in this city have done so and now they come to us and say that gone. New Richmond and Ripley lost $10,000 the prices ought to be advanced. Yet we don't want to discriminate, and while one man who has happened to make a contract gets his ice at a certain figure, his neighbor who has made no contract is obliged to pay a higher price for the same quantity. This is not fair. If there is an advance in prices it ought to be uniform, so that everybody would be served alike." THE ICE SUPPLY.

Mr. Bartlett showed the reporter an article in the June number of the Ice Trade Journal in which it was stated that there was a general pared table which we published in our issue shows the shipments from Maine to have been 263,000 tons against only 70,000 tons last everywhere was heavy.

This estimate would make the entire available supply throughout the country about 18,000,000 nstead of 25,000,000 tons."

Company, this morning to a STAR reporter, $20,000. "but the difficulty is to get vessels to tra it from Maine. There is such a demand for ice failure of the ice crop in other portions of the country that it is now a serious problem to get means of bringing our ice to the market. Vespose are now being impressed into the service and still there are not enough to do the business. In all this section of the country over which our wholesale trade extends we find it difficult to supply our customers. Naturally freights have advanced and we have to pay more for bringing ice here than last year. This advance is now fifty per cent and we don't know where the prices are going to stop. This is the uncer-tain factor that enters into our business this year and we don't know what to think of the future. Thus far we have endeavored to maintain last year's rates in this city, but in order to continue to supply our customers we may be compelled to advance prices to meet the situation. We have already instructed our drivers to take no new trade except private families and we propose to continne to furnish our customers at as low rates as possible. Mr. Church said further that the cl

MR. KIRK'S WITNESS JONES. He is in Ulinois and Denies the Charges Against Mr. Springer.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., June 16.-Considerable excitement has been occasioned at the home of Congressman Springer by the wide publicity given to an affidavit of Hyland C. Kirk, filed with Speaker Reed, charging Mr. Springer with unworthy motives in defeating Kirk's claim against the federal government. The only persons mentioned in substintiation of Mr. Kirk's charge is Aiex. J. Jone. of this city, ex-United States consul to Baranquilla, Colombia, and formerly Mr. Springer's committee clerk. Kirk's affidavit says Mr. Springer referred him to Mr. Jones, his clerk, with the statement that his measure was a speculative one and that if he received favorable action he would have to see Mr. Springer's able action he would have to see Mr. Springer's clerk. Mr. Kirk acted on this advice and when he told Mr. Jones what the chairman of the committee had said Jones said: Did Springer tell you that? The robber. I am getting sick and tired of this whole cut-throat business and I will have nothing to do with it.
